Nabob, From Esquimalt, Saved After Torpedoing

OTTAWA—Five days after she was torpedoed by an unseen U-boat off North Cape, Norway, in August, 1944, the Canadian-manned aircraft carrier, H.M.S. Nabob, was brought to a British port, it was announced today by Naval Service Headquarters.

Nabob was commissioned at Esquimalt, B.C. Twenty-one ratings were killed or missing and six others were injured as a result of the attack, while hundreds of others had narrow escapes from death. Eleven of the dead or missing were Canadians, while the remainder were maintenance or flying personnel of the Fleet Air Arm.

The announcement said that H.M.S. Bickerton, took a second torpedo intended for the Nabob and later had to be ordered sunk. Units of the British Home Fleet, with which the aircraft carrier was operating had withdrawn to the westward and Nabob was preparing to fuel three escort vessels when a U-boat fired the torpedo which caught her on the starboard side. The explosion was terrific and shook the carrier from stem to stern. The 9,000-ton vessel listed to starboard and settled 16 feet at the stern.

Of the ship's company of 840 officers and men, 400 were below decks when the explosion came. The action alarm gong sounded almost simultaneously with the torpedo burst and the flight deck was soon black with ratings in all stages of dress and undress. Scores had been tossed from their hammocks and bunks and none had waited to collect their gear.

SEVERELY DAMAGED
It was apparent the ship had been seriously damaged and the commanding officer, Capt. H. N. Lay, O.B.E., R.C.N., of Victoria, B.C., gave as his first order, "Prepare to abandon ship."

Seven minutes after the explosion and while rafts and boats were being lowered, there was another tremendous explosion. The victim this time was the destroyer escort, H.M.S. Bickerton, half a mile off the Nabob's starboard bow. Nabob's listening devices warned of the approach of a third torpedo, but this one missed the ship.

Below decks in the aircraft carrier was furious activity. The damage-control party raced about, closing hatches and doors, sealing off compartments of the ship. In the blackness of the canteen flat were ratings placing wounded on stretchers. Cmdr. (E) Cecil Irving Hinchcliffe of Victoria, B.C., the engineer officer, got reports on the condition of the vessel and the engines. Capt. Lay that there was no immediate danger of the ship going down.

Ventilators and fans were got working, smoke and fumes were cleared from the engine-room and four hours after the explosion the ship was slowly making way through the water.

A party of shipwrights and volunteers under Chief Shipwright Jim Ball of Regina went into the dangerous bowels of the ship and began shoring up threatened bulkheads.

The Fleet Air Arm's 852 Squadron, borne in the ship, secured their Avengers and Wildcats in the hangar deck. The planes on the flight deck were secured by the aircraft-handling party, all Canadians.

INJURED SHIP SCREENED
Three Royal Navy destroyer escorts maintained a screen around Nabob. Forty minutes after the explosion, the captain made the cheering announcement over the public address system: "We have a good chance."

One Victorian Lost, One Injured On Nabob

OTTAWA—Bodies of eight Canadian ratings, missing following the torpedoing of the Canadian-manned aircraft carrier, H.M.S. Nabob, were recovered and buried at Douglas Bank Cemetery, Dunfermline, Fife, Scotland, it was announced by Naval Service Headquarters.

Next of kin were notified shortly after Nabob was damaged. Following is the list of Canadian casualties:

DEAD OR MISSING

of saving this ship and we are going to have a ruddy good try to do so." A great cheer went up from the flight deck.

The next piece of happy news was that the Canadian Fleet class destroyer H.M.C.S. Algonquin, and H.M.S. Vigilant were coming to Nabob's assistance.

An hour before Nabob got underway a signal was received from Sir Harry Moore, Commander-in-Chief of the Home Fleet, ordering Bickerton to be sunk and Nabob also, unless she could steam.

Vigilant sent a killing torpedo into the wounded Bickerton. A column of spray 300 feet tall shot into the air and the gallant frigate rolled on her starboard side. She went down by the stern, her sharp, clean bows rose upright, and she slowly sank to the bottom.

DROVE OFF U-BOAT
It became known that a submarine was still trailing the ship, and at 3 in the morning two Avenger bombers, with Lt. Cmdr. Bob Bradshaw and Sub-Lt. Don Jupp and their crews hurriedly off the sloping deck and drove off the U-boat, while Nabob altered course.

The aircraft at last returned from their patrol and landed on the deck in fog so dense the stern of the ship could not be seen from the bridge.

That night, Algonquin came alongside and removed 203 non-essential ratings.

For two days the work of improving the ship's condition went on. To lessen weight on the after end, the five-inch guns were cut away, bombs and mines were moved forward or jettisoned.

On the third day a 33-knot gale sprang up from the southwest and caught Nabob on the port bow. The ship groaned under the punishment she was taking. There were fears that 75 yellow dinghies, removed from aircraft and lashed on deck, might be swept away, removing almost the only hope of rescue if a bulkhead collapsed and the ship sank.

But Nabob survived every threat. Two days later she was at anchorage. Across 1,100 miles of unfriendly seas, and through the ever-present threat of enemy U-boats and enemy aircraft, Capt. Lay had brought her in.

NEARLY DROWNED IN OIL
PO. Thomas Jefferson of Victoria, B.C., was sitting beside his bunk in the petty officers' mess with approximately 60 shipmates. The lights went out with the explosion.

Jefferson could feel cold oil rising in the mess and tried to plug the hole it was pouring from with a wooden plug, but couldn't succeed in blocking it. The oil was waist high before he could make the gangway. He slipped on a step and went plunging back into it and almost drowned.

Lockers had been torn from their supports, bunks were spilled everywhere, and the men had to scramble through and over masses of twisted and broken wreckage.

Tom Jefferson today that he is the guy in the world.

Churchill, Attlee In Battle As British Election Nears

TIME OUT FOR A SNACK—Clearly indicating the speed with which he traveled during the election tour he made of England and Scotland, this picture of Premier Churchill shows him having a roadside lunch as served to him by his daughter, Sarah, at left. A cup of tea and a few sandwiches were all the Premier had as he hurried to Birmingham after speaking to throngs in the blitzed city of Coventry.

By DONALD DOANE
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill and former deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee, leaders of Britain's strongest political parties, marshaled their followers today for a last-minute drive for the votes that will decide Thursday's national election.

After crossing swords in a sharp exchange of letters, Mr. Churchill, who heads the Conservative Party, and Mr. Attlee, who leads the Labor Party, planned to mount speaking rostrums to keynote their parties' seminal round of oratory.

Both parties concentrated their closing fire on London, where a fifth of Britain's estimated 25,000,000 votes are bunched.

Mr. Churchill brought one campaign issue to an explosive head Monday night with a letter demanding that Mr. Attlee explain to the nation just what controls the Labor Party's executive committee might exercise over the government if Labor should win. Mr. Churchill pointed out the executive committee was not elected by the voters.

DOESN'T KNOW LABOR
Mr. Attlee replied that the executive committee had no control over Labor members of Parliament and added: "I am sorry you are so distressed, owing to your lack of acquaintance with the ordinary procedure of democratic parties in general and the Labor Party in particular."

The Conservative Daily Mail promptly called Mr. Attlee's reply "disingenuous."

Mr. Attlee expressed the Labor Party's sentiment when he said in a speech: "Give us the chance to govern—we've never had it."

Arthur Greenwood, Labor,

called Mr. Churchill's campaign methods "those of a dictator" and declared: "The most disturbing feature of this election is the emergence of the fuhrer principle, which is foreign and abhorrent to the British people."

The Evening Standard of Lord Beaverbrook—Canadian-born Conservative and Lord Privy Seal—predicted a Conservative majority of as high as 100 in the Commons 640 seats. The party had a majority of only 52 in the House which was elected in 1935 and stayed in office a record 10 years through a wartime political truce, when all parties joined in the coalition government under Mr. Churchill.

Mr. Attlee expressed the Labor Party's sentiment when he said in a speech: "Give us the chance to govern—we've never had it."

B.C. Officer Says Jap Prisoners 8 Nazis Charged With Fatal Beating Of Fellow Prisoner

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Japanese soldier in the Pacific realizes Japan cannot win the war, but he will not stop fighting until ordered to do so by the Emperor, Maj. R. E. Nourse of Vancouver, who has talked to Japanese prisoners taken on New Guinea, said in an interview here today.

Home today after service in Australia, New Guinea and the Solomon Islands, Maj. Andrews told how he talked through an interpreter with Jap prisoners taken in New Guinea fighting.

"The Jap soldier will tell everything he knows when he is a prisoner," said Maj. Nourse.

"I talked to a Jap officer and a sergeant. They seemed to be right on Pacific war news and their information was accurate."

"They admitted to me they didn't think Japan could win the war, but they wouldn't stop fighting unless the Emperor told them to."

"They apparently have some idea of a negotiated peace."

"The officer wouldn't talk for two or three days, but finally told all. The sergeant told us everything the moment he was captured."

Maj. Nourse said the Japanese sergeant even volunteered to fly with Allied bombing planes and direct their attacks on Japanese targets.

"The Jap is a good jungle fighter and good at camouflage," said the Vancouver soldier, "but I don't think much of his shooting or tactics."

VANCOUVER (CP)—The provincial executive of the C.C.F., at a meeting here during the Dominion Day holiday week-end, endorsed a resolution urging immediate establishment of a provincial housing authority to undertake, in co-operation with the federal government, the planning and administration of a large-scale housing program.

Would Broaden Scope of Ontario 'Gestapo' Inquiry

TORONTO (CP)—A motion asking enlargement of the scope of the Royal Commission investigating C.C.F. leader E. B. Jolliffe's charge the Drew government maintained a political police in Ontario was made before Mr. Justice LeBel today by Lewis Duncan, defeated C.C.F. candidate in Toronto-High Park in the Ontario election of June 4.

The commissioner said he would submit the motion to the executive council of the Ontario government, "where I believe it should have been submitted in the first place."

Introducing the motion, Mr. Duncan charged the government's terms of reference to the commission were "improperly phrased according to the Public Inquiries Act. He referred to the section of the terms asking inquiry into the matter of how Mr. Jolliffe had obtained the information on which he based his charges.

"It is not a part of the public business," he said, "to find out how Mr. Jolliffe got the information," adding that that section changed the government's position in the inquiry from defendant to plaintiff.

His motion urged the commission to appoint as additional counsel to the commissioner a person with no professional or political contact with the government; to enlarge the scope to investigate "what public servants have since Aug. 4, 1943, been engaged in or have been privy to the obtaining of information and the preparation of cards, files, dossiers or reports on British subjects or other persons who have not been charged with or convicted of a crime."

PAYMENTS QUESTIONED
Further, it asked "what cards, files, dossiers or reports have been so prepared; what public monies have been expended in carrying on these activities; what department or under what ministers they were carried on."

Mr. Duncan urged broadening of the commission's scope to probe "the source of the funds used to pay for any advertisements containing any material or information found on or in the said cards, files, dossiers or reports and into the source of the funds with which Sanderson (M. A. Sanderson, Toronto insecticide dealer) or his company made payments to Osborne Dempster (Capt. W. J. Osborne-Dempster), alleged political police head."

He asked that the commissioner be authorized to order payment of the costs of counsel attending before him.

Mr. Duncan asked specifically that he be appointed to represent C.C.F. candidates in the provincial election, Commissioner LeBel said he had no power to do so.

To Mr. Duncan's charge that the inquiry was being "conducted at break-neck speed," the commissioner replied: "I am not prepared to take any gratuitous insults now or at any other time."

Today is the ninth day of the commission hearing.

Big Leave Centre Established For Canadians At Amsterdam

By WILLIAM BOSS
AMSTERDAM (CP)—A new leave centre for Canadians and all other troops under 1st Canadian Army command is rapidly taking shape here under Lt. Col. George Weir of Calgary and a large staff of army personnel. The centre, which opened July 1, will receive 1,500 troops daily, for three-day visits. The administration offices will be in the huge stadium built for the 1928 Olympic Games. Servicemen come under the scheme, and the set-up will receive 45 women officers and 80 women other ranks daily. Hotels, restaurants, theatres and even canal barges have been requisitioned to handle the 4,500 odd service personnel in Amsterdam each day. One restaurant, renamed "Vancouver House," seats 1,200 at a time. There are five refreshment rooms, with a combined capacity of 1,200, and "The Canada Club" in a hotel annex, has a floor big enough for 800 dancing couples. A committee of Dutch women will provide the dancing partners for the troops. Hotels like the Amstel, Victoria, Krasnapolski, Park, Brock Dollen and Red Lion will provide sleeping accommodation for officers, senior noncommissioned officers and C.W.A.C. personnel, while army other ranks will be billeted in public buildings and schools.

New York Papers Have No Deliveries

NEW YORK (AP)—Striking deliverymen who have tied up distribution of New York metropolitan newspapers have shown no indication today of obeying a War Labor Board order to return to work. Dominick Alvina, business representative of the Newspaper and Mail Deliveries Union (unaffiliated), said the men "had no intention of going back to work under present arrangements." The War Labor Board Monday ordered the strikers to end the walkout today or send representatives to a hearing in Washington to show cause why the strike should not be terminated. William Mapel, vice-chairman of the Publishers' Association of

New York, representing 11 major dailies, said the newspapers would be printed today and "we expect the men to deliver them; the government has told them to." The W.L.B. declared the walkout was "in direct violation of the no-strike clause" of the Union's contract with the Publishers' Association. The contract was extended by a W.L.B. directive June 14. All major metropolitan dailies except PM were forced by the strike to limit their distribution to sales over-the-counter at their own offices. Normal week-day circulation of the papers is more than 5,000,000.

DRYDOCK GOES TO SEA—The U.S. navy's answer to the problem of repairing ships, from torpedo boats to battleships, is solved by the "ABSD," better known as the floating drydock. Shown above with two ships in its capacious accommodation, it is moved to various theatres in the Pacific and enables repairmen to handle from 56,000 to 100,000 tons of ship.

Republicans As Well As Democrats Solid For Truman's Way

By AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION
PRINCETON, N.J.—After only a little more than two months in office, President Harry S. Truman has achieved a popular regard that compares favorably with the popularity of Franklin D. Roosevelt at its highest points.

While every president of course enjoys a "honeymoon" period of high popularity after taking office, the fact is that Mr. Truman, who will be a newcomer at the meeting of the Big Three this month, will take with him the solid support and confidence of his fellow countrymen, as shown by the following: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Truman is handling his job as president?" Approve 87 per cent; disapprove 3 per cent; no opinion, 10 per cent.

This compares with an approval vote of 84 per cent for the late Mr. Roosevelt in a poll on a similar question in January, 1942. Today's results are, of course, no index of the vote that a presidential election were held at this time. The reactions of Republican voters are nevertheless interesting for comparison with Democratic attitudes:

	Approve	Disapprove	No opinion
Democrats	85%	10%	5%
Republicans	89%	3%	8%

NO GROUPS ALIENATED
While President Roosevelt enjoyed almost universal support for his foreign policy, there were always sharp differences of opinion among voters on the Roosevelt domestic policies. In Mr. Truman's case, however, no such difference in popularity between foreign and domestic policy has arisen as yet.

Vancouver Reports Many Holiday Thefts
VANCOUVER (CP)—Theft of money from homes and rooming houses in Vancouver ranged from a few dollars to $100 or more during the long Dominion Day holiday.

Michael Epelay of the downtown manning pool, reported loss of his wallet containing $100 cash and a U.S. Coast Guard pass. Miss Carol Neilson of Seattle lost $48 from her purse, which, she told police, she had left on a table in a hallway while viewing a room in a downtown rooming house.

Stuart Smythe of Vancouver reported loss of $65 from his downtown room, and Young Chan, Chinese, reported theft of $150 from the cash register in his grocery store. He said entrance had been gained by smashing a panel in the door of his store.

6 Italian Monarchist Party Members Jailed

ROME (AP)—Six members of so-called "Monarchist Column" were convicted by a military tribunal at Bari Monday of robberies and aggressions and were sentenced to varying prison terms. Five others were acquitted. The leader of the band, Salvatore Russo, who testified he had conferred with King Victor Emanuel to lay plans for a monarchist campaign against the communists and republicans, was sentenced to six years and four months. He told the court his organization had been armed and financed by the Italian army at Bari and Brindisi.

Canadians In London Observe Dominion Day With Parade, Service

By DOUGLAS AMARON
LONDON (CP)—Monday was Canada's day in London as service men and women from the Dominion celebrated the 78th birthday of their country. The King, the Queen and Princess Elizabeth joined soldiers, sailors and airmen in a Canadian service of "thanksgiving and remembrance" in Westminster Abbey, where the Archbishop of York, Most Rev. Cyril Garbett, voiced Britain's "gratitude and affection" for the part Canada played in the war. "We shall never forget the long years during which the forces of Canada stood with us on guard on our shores against any attempts at invasion while her air force made incessant attacks on strongholds of the enemy," said the Archbishop, who had returned from York for the service. "Soon you will be leaving this country" on your homeward journey. Though you will be far from us we shall ever think with gratitude and affection of you and your great Dominion," he said.

MASSEY TAKES SALUTE
The ancient abbey was filled with service men and women who had marched to the service from Wellington Barracks near Buckingham Palace. The march, headed by an R.C.A.F. band, passed a reviewing stand at the foot of the Duke of York's steps on the Mall where Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, took the salute. Members of the R.C.N. and the Women's Division of the air force followed immediately behind the band and after them came a large contingent of soldiers, nursing sisters and members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps. Then came another R.C.A.F. band and members of the R.C.A.F. and its Women's Division. With Mr. Massey on the salu-ing base were Mrs. Massey and the heads of the three Canadian services in the United Kingdom. —Lt. Gen. P. J. Montague, Chief Staff at Canadian Military Headquarters; Air Vice-Marshal G. O. Johnson, commanding the R.C. A.F. overseas, and Capt. F. L. Houghton, head of the Canadian Naval Mission to the United Kingdom. Outside the Abbey after the march down Whitehall past the Cenotaph, Roman Catholic service men and women left the main parade for a thanksgiving service in Westminster Cathedral, where Archbishop Griffin preached the sermon.

SISTER DOMINIONS
The service personnel and the Dominion High Commissioners of all the Dominions, Sir John Anderson, Chancellor of the Exchequer, representing the British cabinet, and the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada, were in their places when the King and Queen and Princess Elizabeth arrived at the Abbey. A fanfare of trumpets greeted the Royal party and they were escorted to their seats by Rt. Rev. Paul de Labilliere, Dean of Westminster, and Mr. Massey. The King wore naval uniform while the Queen was in blue with a matching off-the-face hat. She wore a peach-colored rose, pinned to her coat by a Canadian maple-leaf pin. Princess Elizabeth, attending her first Canadian service in the Abbey, was in the uniform of the Auxiliary Territorial Service.

British Sub Sinks Japanese Cruiser

WASHINGTON (CP)—A British submarine, said to be H.M.S. Trenchant, sank a Japanese cruiser of the Haruro class in a recent South Pacific action, the U.S. navy announced Monday. MANKIND'S NEW CHARTER

THOSE CANADIANS WHO HAVE studied the full text of the great United Nations' Charter to which Mr. Mackenzie King and his Minister of Justice appended their signatures on behalf of this Dominion a week ago will have realized the vast significance and importance of the provisions of that momentous document. In the first place, by her acceptance of the principles it propounds, Canada has sanctioned an investment in the machinery for the preservation of peace. In the second place, by her commitments under its stipulations, Canada is pledged to supply her share of the motive power to make that machinery work. All the other 49 nations represented at that epochal gathering in the city by the Golden Gate have similarly obligated themselves. Their respective parliaments will now be asked to legalize their actions—to approve the Charter. President Truman gave it to the United States Senate yesterday and followed it with a personal appeal for prompt action by that treaty-making body.

Passage of the necessary legislation in some of the United Nations' national forums may not be as smooth or as rapid as in others. Under democratic procedure which permits complete freedom of expression, the elected representatives of the people no doubt will exercise their right of criticism and suggestion, to give full rein to such doubts and fears as they may entertain in respect of the document's value and potential scope. Intelligent analysis of its details will be useful—only to throw into vivid relief certain weak spots to which much controversial discussion in San Francisco drew public attention. Nothing but good can come of such analyses. None claims perfection for the document, not even the most optimistic; and as the years pass and tests of its machinery are fairly applied, adjustments can be made. But only intelligent and continual discussion will provide effective improvement.

As the Charter makes its appearance in the legislative halls of this and other signatory countries the scoffers and the skeptics will become vocal. Last Thursday's Town Meeting of the Air from Mitchell Field, New York, provided a fair sample of the attitude of mind with which the American bi-partisan delegation to the UNCTO may have to fight as they play their part in facilitating its passage through the Senate in Washington. A vast and essentially interested audience, comprised of male and female air personnel, heard Congresswoman Sumner strongly objecting and labelling the document as if it were almost an instrument of the devil. Critics of this type, however, are not confined to monopolists of the peculiar phobia which found expression in the isolationist school in the United States. They assume various forms in this and other countries. In most instances, of course, especially with the individual, it is a case of the pitiful alliance of ignorance and ego in conflict with progressive thought—the inferiority complex which automatically enlarges the head and constricts the brain. Happily for the future of the human race, the tribe is one of dwindling proportions. The debater of the Town Meeting of the Air, nevertheless, is a grim reminder that the disease still persists, that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, and that the mind which refuses tutelage becomes a menace to society.

There is, however, a cure for this ignorance-cum-ego malady. And Canada might well assume leadership in a crusade against it by initiating a simple process of education. For it stands to reason that until every adult citizen of this country makes it his or her business to study the Charter and its implications, and insists that the rising generation and generations yet unborn are swept in its import for the future of the world, Canada will not have put forth her maximum effort to make this investment in the machinery for peace work. Our suggestion, therefore, is that the document be printed for Dominion-wide circulation and introduced as part of all school studies. Every chapter of the Charter lends itself to explanatory comment simple enough for all bright young Canadian pupils to understand. And certainly no price is too high to pay to make peace permanent.

GREAT IN HIS LINE

VICTORIA HAS BEEN HOST ON numerous occasions to the men who have occupied the important position of chief publicity director for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Numbered among that galaxy of distinguished craftsmen—who have combined fine literary accomplishments with the superlative arts of diplomacy in their dealings with the public—is Mr. John Murray Gibson, perhaps the dean of them all. He has now reached the Psalmist's allotted span and, after nearly four decades of conscientious labor, he is about to take a well-earned rest to devote himself to those less exacting pursuits with which Canadians have associated his name and talents for so long. His friends, and they are legion, will wish him good health and contentment in the days of his leisure.

It is an extremely fortunate circumstance that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company however, that it has immediately available for promotion on its efficient publicity staff such an able and experienced public relations officer as Mr. Hugh Campbell, who is now to succeed Mr. Gibson. Newspapersmen all over Canada and hundreds of the fraternity in the United States have known "Hughie" intimately for many years. They know him not only for his outstanding capabilities as a journalist in the specialized form in which he has so long served the C.P.R. in several of its divisional areas of the Dominion; they know him for his intimate understanding and appreciation of the continental scene. He knows our people; and his service, on loan from his company, with the Canadian War Information Board in Washington has given him unique opportunities to interpret this Dominion, the moods, aspirations and the hopes of its people, to our good friends and neighbors on the other side of the 49th parallel. One had only to speak to American journalists in San Francisco to realize how well he has performed what is not always the simplest of tasks.

In Mr. Hugh Campbell, therefore, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has a publicity and public relations officer who will uphold the traditions of a service to which such fine Canadians as George Ham, Arthur Calder, Harry Smith and Murray Gibson gave the best years of their active life. Newspapersmen from the Pacific to the Atlantic will congratulate "Hughie" on his well-deserved promotion and wish him all that he would wish for himself.

FOR HIS COUNTRY'S SAKE

FRIENDS OF BELGIUM, WHO HAVE shared that country's concern over the disruptive effects of the monarchial controversy on its efforts toward recovery, could see hope today for alleviation of the critical situation. Indications pointed strongly to the abdication of King Leopold, a step which might remove internal dissension and pave the way for more concerted action in restoring the little kingdom to a healthy economic and social status.

Like other nations occupied by the Germans, Belgium can afford little time for political disturbances at present. She has too much to do to feed, clothe and house her people. That should be a primary objective from which nothing should divert her leaders. But such a goal cannot be achieved while the threat of a general strike hangs over her industries, while people are willing to endure continued hardship in resistance to the return of a monarch who appears to have lost the confidence of the majority of those in a position to give the nation leadership.

If credence is to be given to the oft-told report that Leopold's first concern is Belgium, abdication would appear the only action he could take for the country's well-being. As conditions are now, his position as monarch, if he insisted on trying to retain his hereditary rights, would be untenable. It may be a difficult personal decision for the tragic young man to make, but announcement of his withdrawal from the throne would, it appears from this distance, be the most useful course he could pursue for the sake of his people.

A NEW ONE

COLUMBIA BROADCASTING COMPANY's shaving soap news commentator this morning evidently had picked up a few observations from an overseas colleague who had been discussing the British election campaign. How the man in London had described the issues—which will be decided in the polling booths on Thursday—we do not know; but the interpretation put on his remarks by the broadcaster on this side was no compliment to the intelligence of those Americans who have learned a good deal about Britain's political structure in recent years. Briefly put, this stricture young man of Columbia's system told his audience that this election provided Labor with its "first chance to rule England and the Empire."

Apart from the fact that Britain had a Labor government in office for 286 days in 1924, and for two years and 105 days in the 1929-1931 period, the administration at Westminster also attends to the business of Scotland and Wales. Home Rulers in these two sections of the British Isles, of course, would like to confine the British government's constitutional prerogatives to territorial England. That is a point in which we are not particularly interested. But what does concern the people of Britain and the rest of the self-governing nations of the British Commonwealth and Empire is the dissemination of news to other countries which accurately depicts the family relationship in the strict political sense. For there are some well-meaning folk in the United States who really believe that Canadians, for example, still pay their taxes direct to Downing Street. And those who know better, but continue to indulge their Anglophobia, are apt to seize on witting or unwitting distortion to serve their unhelpful purpose. Able Columbia broadcaster Ed. Murrow would have experienced a shock had he heard that British Labor may have a chance to "rule the Empire."

Charter Machinery

By B. T. RICHARDSON
SAN FRANCISCO

THE CHARTER of the United Nations embodies, as Dr. Evatt said, literally hundreds of amendments brought to the San Francisco Conference by delegates from far and near. No one will say the charter is perfect, nor that it is much different in its essentials from the draft of Dumbarton Oaks, in which the great nations at the initiative of the United States sought to give form to the world's need for international organization. The outlines of this organization, as they have been revised in two months of work in San Francisco, are simple.

There will be two classes of members, those countries which attended the San Francisco Conference, which have signed and will ratify now; and secondly, new members joining later. These newcomers must be peace-loving nations, ready to accept the obligations of the charter and, in the opinion of the organization, able and willing to carry them out.

Members can be suspended and reinstated, and may be expelled. The charter has no mention of withdrawal.

Enemy countries of this war will be in a special position, and whether they will be able in time to put their credentials in order will be for the peace conference, the organization and the future to decide.

Mexico introduced a resolution, which passed, that ineligible countries included those whose governments were established by axis aid. This ruled out Franco Spain, and loud protests were heard immediately in Madrid, which suggested that the new organization already wields moral weight in the world.

Members must pay dues fixed by the assembly, and a member in default for two years loses its vote.

HAVING JOINED, a nation will find wide scope for international co-operation in six principal organs, and others that may be added in time.

1. The General Assembly, where each member has one vote and the right to say anything that is parliamentary and responsible. The Assembly is the main deliberative body.

2. The Security Council of 11 members. Five of them are permanent, United States, Britain, Russia, France and China, commonly called the big powers. Six are elected by the assembly for two-year terms, three retiring each year. Everyone is eligible immediately for re-election. The Security Council has one job, to deal with threats to peace and acts of aggression, and the delegates have given it wide and exclusive powers and, at the insistence of the great nations, provided that effective decisions of the council must carry the concurrence of the great nations. This is the veto.

3. The Economic and Social Council of 18 members. All will be elected by the Assembly for three years, but in order to establish rotation, three will retire after the first year, and three after the second. This will be done by lot. Each member has one vote, and the conference hopes this council will include nations of greatest economic importance and be representative of the world generally.

THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL (4) of five big powers plus all states administering trust territories along with enough others to ensure that the council consists equally of trust and non-trust nations. A trust nation will be one which accepts responsibility for looking after dependent territory. Except for the big powers, term of membership is three years.

5. The International Court of Justice, to which all members of the organization will belong automatically. It will consist of 15 judges, only one from one nation, elected by majority vote of the Assembly and the Security Council.

6. The Secretariat will consist of a Secretary-General, elected by the Assembly for three years, with the required staff, which will be chosen on the basis of efficiency. In the Canadian view, this means a beginning of a true international service. One of the big fights in the San Francisco Conference was to stave off big-power patronage in the secretariat, and reduce the chances of governments trying to influence the servants of the world organization.

At this point, the delegates added a clause on women's rights, providing for equality of men and women in the service of the organization. Undoubtedly, this clause is a landmark in this field.

THE LAST MAJOR battle at San Francisco came on the question of charter amendment. The view of the big powers, in the Dumbarton Oaks draft, was simply that amendments would be effective when passed by two-thirds of the Assembly and separately ratified by the big nations plus a majority of others. The conference pinned this down by providing that the Assembly, subject to veto, could vote by a two-thirds majority to call a conference to amend the charter; and that if no conference was called in 10 years, at the end of that time the decision to call it would be placed automatically on the agenda and no veto could prevent it being held. Any amendments prepared at a special conference will have to be approved by two-thirds vote and be ratified by the big nations and a majority of the others, before coming into effect. This leaves revision of the charter difficult, but not impossible.

Finally, the charter itself will come into effect when ratified by the big powers and a majority of others, that is, 28 in all of the nations represented in San Francisco.

Fable: Once there was a person who had power and didn't use it to get special benefits for himself and his friends.

INTERNATIONAL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

As our brand-new peace charter comes up for ratification by the United Nations, what do you yourself think are its chances of working?

We start from the premise, I take it, that the peace charter, or the Atlantic Charter, or the Constitution of the United States, possesses no inherent power to make itself work. After all, they're just words on paper. They will work only if a sufficient number of people try to make them work.

There have been folk in every age who have viewed all projects through dark glasses, even though they believed in the principles.

Probably some of those who heard the Sermon on the Mount shook their heads and said: "It won't work. You can't change human nature." But today about a third of the earth's people profess Christianity, and many others subscribe to the Sermon on the Mount.

To Avert Tragedy In Vacation Time

From Health News Service

WITH THE summer vacation season upon us, the Health League of Canada points out that many deaths from drowning can be prevented—first by running no unnecessary risks and second by the prompt and long-continued use of artificial respiration methods when accidents occur.

Several years ago there was an intense agitation for more care in rescue efforts, it being stated that victims died because artificial respiration was discontinued too soon. They died because all necessary efforts were not made to revive them—because the possibilities of artificial respiration still were not fully realized.

There are well-authenticated reports of artificial respiration being successful after as many as five hours. In cases of electrical shock, at least one instance is known of a patient being revived after being apparently dead for eight hours. This being true, it is an extraordinary thing that reports still come in of artificial respiration being discontinued after a mere half hour of effort.

IT IS POINTED OUT that even if the victim has been in the water for as long as 30 minutes, there is a chance that life is not extinct—that proper resuscitation methods have a chance of bringing back consciousness.

Also, it is emphasized, artificial respiration must be started as quickly as possible and continued for a long period—six hours or longer. It is not until rigor mortis sets in that life can be assumed to be extinct. One of the most documented cases of late revival is that of a child, brought back to life after five hours' active work and hours after the child had been pronounced dead.

It is also important that those using artificial respiration be sure that air enters the lungs properly while they are working on the patient. There is always a possibility that a spasm of the larynx occurred and that the victim suffocated rather than revived.

THE MOST popular method of artificial respiration is the Schaefer method. In this, the body is raised gently by the waist to allow water to drain from the lungs and stomach. It is then placed in a prone position with the head and chest lower than the rest, if possible. The head should be placed on one side on one of the patient's arms. The rescuer kneels astride the victim and applies pressure rhythmically in the region of the lungs. If possible, the patient should be kept warm with blankets and hot water bottles.

Rescuers should remember these five points:

1. Clear the patient quickly.
2. Start artificial respiration without delay.
3. Use warmth if possible.
4. Do not stop artificial respiration until the patient breathes or there are definite signs of the onset of rigor mortis.
5. After the patient is breathing do not allow him to sit up, stand, or walk, but transport him in a lying-down position and put him to bed.

THIS WAR—FOUR YEARS AGO

By The Canadian Press
July 2, 1941—The largest contingent to date of Canadian troops, including a tank brigade, arrived in Britain. Heavy fighting developed in Minsk and Dvinsk areas on the eastern front. The R.A.F. attacked air bases at Beirut and Palmyra, Syria.

The telescope principle was discovered by an unknown Dutch boy. While working in the Amsterdam shop of Lippershey, the spectacle maker, the boy held two lenses before his eyes and looked down the street at a church steeple with the now well-known telescopic results.

So if the United Nations want the peace charter to work, it will work.

Whether you have a peace charter, or whether you don't, the Big Three still must dominate the situation. That is true because they have the physical strength to enforce peace—so long as they stand together.

From the standpoint of small nations this may not be ideal. But we must remember that at this moment peace in Europe is in as precarious a position as a tight-rope walker on Niagara Falls with a kitchen range on his back. If any one of the Big Three so much as flipped a hostile bean, there would be another war. Peace depends on their solidarity, and we must leave affairs in their hands right now.

If the small countries adopt the practical viewpoint, and accept the Big Five as a benevolent guardianship, there's no reason at all why the new peace organization shouldn't work. Whole-hearted co-operation all around will turn the trick.

Letters To The Editor

A CHARTER OF PEACE

And so we vitalize the victory with peace—we make peace vital to those who are left, as well as to those who are gone.

We believe the Charter of Peace to be not simply something written down in black and white, but something written in the hearts of men the world over; a living and vital thing to those nations which are its cornerstone and its sure foundation of faith.

May the Charter of Peace be a reflection of lives lost not in vain, but saved in grace—the grace of the nations united to vitalize peace.

ALAN GREIG

NO CHANCE

In thanking your reporter for the appreciative account of the Christ Church Cathedral Garden Party, I hope I may be allowed to correct just one word. The games offered in the A.Y.P.A. midway were in no case games of chance, but games of skill, such as darts, bagatelle, croquet, golf-putting and ring throwing.

Our young people were most careful to accept the ruling given at the last diocesan synod that all sports shall be strictly in accordance with the highest ethical standards, and we feel sure that your very courteous reporter will pardon this amendment in the report. WM. E. ASKEW.

OUR PONIES

May I ask for a little space on your columns to draw attention to the driving of the ponies which stand on Belleville?

Already there have been two accidents which might have ended in loss of life. The advertisements painted on the boards on the sidewalk are a constant temptation to inexperienced drivers, who do not realize that because a horse is gentle, it will not panic in motor traffic, especially when handled by a bad driver. Not long ago I saw the piebald pony on the pavement in front of this hotel, to the risk of all concerned, entirely through mishandling. What with the tram lines, the slippery uneven streets, the heavy motor traffic, the overtired ponies and careless driving, it is simply asking for trouble.

Norah Prewett Wed At Metropolitan

Rev. A. E. Her sisters, Mrs. William Bissell, in a two-piece floral organdy voile, with white background and a tiny pink tulle hat, and Mrs. Cyril Tomlinson in a two-piece floral voile with blue background and small blue tulle hat, were the bridesmaids. Sgmn. Gordon Barker was groomsmen, and Lieut. David Barker and Clarence Foot were ushers.

Deputy Minister Of Municipal Affairs E. H. Bridgman Dies

A man who made an outstanding contribution to municipal government in British Columbia, E. H. "Harry" Bridgman, deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, died at 5 this morning at his home, 2657 Orchard Street, following a heart attack last week. Born in his grandfather's parsonage at Castle Bytham, Lincolnshire, England, 69 years ago, Mr. Bridgman came to Canada with his parents in 1882, and three years later arrived in Vancouver. His father was a well-known master mariner. At the time of his death he was a leading pilot in B.C. waters.

Witnessing the fire which destroyed Vancouver in 1886, Mr. Bridgman saw the city rise from the ashes to its present place in Canadian and world trade. He was a pioneer of development of the North Shore of Burrard Inlet. After receiving his early education at public schools in Vancouver, Mr. Bridgman attended Lorne College, New Westminster, studying accountancy.

In 1910 he was elected to district council on the North Shore and served the next 11 years, seven of them as reeve. He re-entered public life in 1923 as alderman for North Vancouver after having lived in retirement for two years. Serving several terms as mayor of North Vancouver, he continued in public service until 1933, when he joined the B.C. government as supervisor of municipal affairs.

On the death of Robert Baird in 1935, Mr. Bridgman was named deputy minister. Other positions he held included 12 years on the executive of the B.C. municipalities, when he also served several terms as president, and 14 years on the North Vancouver school board. He leaves a widow and two children.

Gosling, Mr. and Mrs. C. Finigan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Aitken, Mesdames M. Lambert, R. Tait, J. Scroggie, H. Clarke, R. Wiley, S. Price, J. E. Allan, S. Chisholm, Speed, D. Morris, G. Mace, S. Avery, F. Easton, I. Smith, W. Galloway, F. C. Jeffries, John McGregor, J. Munroe, W. Woodward, H. L. Hopkins, H. Parks, C. Thomas, D. Thomas, and Miss Edna Pugh.

Saturday evening, the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Ker, 1524 Shasta Place, was the scene of one of the summer's most successful dances. One hundred invitations were extended by Elspeth and David Ker to their many school and college friends.

Receiving the guests Mrs. Ker wore a muted turquoise evening gown with dull gold beading at the wrists and throat. Miss Elspeth Ker, assisting her mother, wore pale blue net, the low, oval neckline accented by alternate narrow bands of blue satin and net. Pale pink and yellow carnations and blue delphiniums created a colorful background for the gay prints and pastel frocks of the sub-debs. The uniforms of the Royal Canadian Naval College and various prep-school blazers were effective foil for the summer styles worn by the girls.

OLD MAIDS OUTDATED

Dear Miss Dix: We are two girls whose parents are worried over us because we are not married and who are urging us to marry men we do not care for because they are so afraid we will be old maids. My sister is 20 years old. I am 23 years of age. The man my parents want me to marry is 15 years older than I am. Do you think that is too much difference in the age of a husband and wife? He is a nice man and I like him and I think he would make a good husband, but I do not love him. What shall I do?

ROSE

ANXIOUS PARENTS

Answer: Your parents are a couple of generations behind the times if they think that a girl should marry just to be able to be called Mrs. instead of Miss or that there is any discredit in being an old maid. In the old days, when there was no gainful occupation except marriage open to women, it was easy to see why fathers and mothers were anxious to get their daughters married. They wanted to shift their support on to some man. Also, as it was obvious under the circumstances that every girl would marry if she possibly could, parents considered it a reflection upon themselves for their daughters to be so unattractive that no man would have on; as a gift.

But now, thank heaven, all of that is prehistoric stuff. Girls are just as self-supporting as boys are. They are no longer a burden on their fathers and mothers. They get jobs as soon as they get out of school and they carry home their pay envelopes far oftener than the boys do. So parents have no need to force marriage on them.

Nor is being an old maid any longer a reproach to a girl, any more than it is for a man to be a bachelor. It is assumed that a girl marries or stays single of her own choice.

Fifteen years is a big difference in the ages of a husband and wife, but what matters in your case is not the age, but the fact that you do not love the man. It takes a lot of loving to make marriage worth while.

Victoria Nature Talks

A VISIT TO CHAIN ISLAND

By ROBERT CONNELL

In two groups a number of Natural History Society members went over to Chain and Discovery Islands last Saturday to see something of the wild life there. Our group went first to Chain Island, half-way between Oak Bay and Discovery, about a mile and a quarter from the boat-house. As we approached the low-lying mass of yellow and fawn rock scores of glaucous-winged gulls were seen awaiting our coming, but as we reached the shore and left the boat, scores of them began to circle above us in a clear sunny air.

Our first steps were directed towards a patch of rose flowers that had from the water excited our curiosity. More than one conjecture was made as to their identity. They proved to be the familiar fireweed but so affected by the winds that sweep the islet that the flower spikes were more compact and less pointed than usual. On the low flat near by we came across beautiful tufts of tall grasses in rich green and golden yellow.

GULLS' NEST

Then we took our way up the low hillside among rocky ledges and rough vegetation. Presently we came on the first gull's nest and from there on we were scarcely ever more than a few feet from one and in places had to be careful lest we trod on the one, two, or three dark olive and black mottled eggs lying in the little open depressions that constitute their sole protection.

The air on this north side of the island was fragrant with the perfume of wild roses for we were approaching a thicket where they were mingled with Hooker willow and hardhack. Just beyond this we were on the backbone of the little island and looked on all sides over its 50 or 60 acres of rock and sun-dried grass and occasional patches of darker green vegetation. And still overhead the gulls flew, filling the summer air with their protesting cries.

Once we saw a red-shouldered blackbird and heard its harsh note: it was the only land bird seen on the island by our party.

On the south side the scene changed. Here we came down on a harsh shore where the dark rocks were broken and fissured by the sea operating on their unglaciated side. We found very many gull's nests in among this shattered confusion, and in sad contrast a dead gull with its snowy breast upturned but with no visible injury. As we climbed up from this rough shore near the extreme south tip we saw on a small islet to the east a number of cormorants sitting solemnly, and swimming below us five pigeon gulls whose white wing-patches showed conspicuously against their otherwise black plumage and whose red feet gleamed brilliantly in the clear water.

WOOLLY YARROW

On this rocky shore we also came on an interesting plant in the woolly yarrow, a species larger and coarser than our common kind. It is remarkable for its silvery wooliness, the great development of the leaves in length, width and division, and the size and roundness of the flower-heads. Achillea lanulosa, as it is botanically called, is said in Piper's Flora of Washington not to occur on this side of the Cascades.

Not far away we came on the sea and sand-spurry, Spergularia marina, with its covering of glandular hairs and purplish pink flowers. It is a distant relative of the carnation. Both the broad-leaved and the narrow-petalled sedums or stonecrops were found in flower, and also a small white-flowered species which may be a garden stray since a native sedum of that color is unknown in the west.

The stiff and much-branched little pepper-grass was found covered with its round flat seed-pods, and the gumweed brightened the scene with its large yellow flower-heads. The common wild onion, Allium acuminatum, shared the honors of the grassy places with the violet and white brodiaeas and the poison camass. The blue camass attains a large size here, but its flowering was over and we could only admire the seed-vessels on their hefty stems. Self-heal was there, and no doubt many other plants had time been longer for search.

If a teacup is stained, dampen it, rub with salt and the stain disappears; if hot water bottle leaks, fill it with hot salt and get good heat; if food is spilled and burns on the stove, smother the smoke with a small amount of salt.

When vegetables come in all muddy from the garden, a wire dish rack is a practical aid in washing them. Invert the dish rack in the sink, spread the vegetables on top of it and spray the water around and over them.

OXYDOL WASHES SO CLEAN

Your biggest wash comes

WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING

Oxydol is Far Ahead of Other Soaps in Preventing "Dirty Grayness"

Tests Prove Oxydol Washes Clothes CLEANER and WHITER!

Yes, Whiter! In wash test after wash test — Oxydol proved that it actually washes clothes cleaner and whiter than many other soaps which, unlike Oxydol, fail to get out that last possible trace of stubborn dirt and grime! White and Bright Wash after Wash! Soaps often leave tiny discoloring particles caused by dirt in the clothes and the "hardness" of the water. These stick in the clothes and turn gray or yellow under ironing heat. But Oxydol combats "dirty grayness"—it helps prevent "dirty grayness" particles from forming in the clothes. New "Hustle-Bubble" Suds Lift Dirt Out! Oxydol's new "Hustle-Bubble" suds are so active they lift dirt out. All your white things—except for unusual stains—come so clean they're White Without Bleaching. Sparkling white! So Safe for Colors, Too! And Oxydol is so safe—safe for wash colors, rays and your own precious hands. Its rich, safe suds wash your colored clothes so clean they fairly sparkle! Next washday use Oxydol—and enjoy a wash so clean it's actually White Without Bleaching!

Training Force To Fight Possible Balloon Fires

Fires which might occur should Jap balloons fall in B.C. forests this summer will be combatted by a special fire-fighting force of 90 men, made up from the ranks of younger fire wardens, high school students and Rainbow Sea Cadets, Inspector A. H. Bishop, Civil Defence Controller, has announced.

The special force, which is to be trained by Fire Chief Alex Munro, will be protected by government insurance against accident or injury, and two ambulances and a Red Cross canteen will follow the force if it goes to fire scenes by truck, the inspector said.

With more equipment expected in the future, nine forest-type pumps and five other 450-gallon trailer pumps are already stored in Victoria West fire hall, and establishment of a second depot in Nanaimo is planned, Inspector Bishop said.

Planes will be used to fly pumps into normally inaccessible areas, should the emergency arise, according to W. C. Mainwaring, provincial civilian protection committee.

Also standing by for emergencies will be the auxiliary fire department at View Royal, Craigflower Post No. 3, which is under the direction of S. Bell.

Ottawa Studying Peakes' Suggestions

Maj. Gen. G. R. Peakes, V.C., M.P. elect for Nanaimo riding, has received the assurance of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Defence Minister, that his suggestions concerning use of army camps near Patricia Bay and return of M.D. 11 to Victoria were receiving close consideration.

In telegrams to Gen. McNaughton and Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe, Gen. Peakes said the acute housing shortage in Saanich was largely due to the number of service families in the area.

Gen. McNaughton replied: "Thank you for suggestions contained in your telegram of June 25. These matters are receiving close attention and action will be taken which best accords with efficiency of administration and extension of help in reducing housing shortage."

A search of the companion's room revealed two more bombsights which the youthful salesman claimed he had purchased from a third boy for 30 cents each.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

RECENT edition of Khaki, Canadian army paper, carries an interesting article on Capt. Fritz Hanson, one of the smoothest bits of football machinery in the history of the Canadian code. Hanson, now sports officer of the Manitoba district, spent some time in Victoria a couple of years back being stationed at the Willows. Fritz, at the mellow age of 33, claims he is all through with football and plans to hang up his cleats for good.

IF HANSON'S threat to retire proves serious, football players in every Canadian city but Winnipeg will breathe a profound sigh of relief. The speedy blond flash has slid neatly past many a lunging tackler, leaving him to dispose the momentum by skidding into the turf. Hanson's greatest victory undoubtedly occurred in December of 1937, when the Winnipeg Blue Bombers went east to play Ottawa Roughriders. What with a couple feet of snow spread all over the Capital City and surrounding territory, engineers spent most of the morning locating the football field. When they had cleared the snow to the side, the Roughriders spent the afternoon trying to locate Hanson.

With a snowy, slippery turf, the players donned tennis shoes for the game. Hanson ran wild and sparked the Bombers to one of the most spectacular victories in the history of the Grey Cup competition. It was a coincidence, that King Clancy, the famed hockey great and referee, had placed a modest wager of $25 on the Ottawas. Every time Hanson took the ball and started away on one of his brilliant dashes the crowd could be heard to yell "There goes Hanson!"

"Right," Clancy would yell back, "and twenty-five dollars."

HOWEVER, despite the fact that Ottawa Roughriders and Toronto Argos chased him desperately in various east-west Grey Cup finals, Hanson selects a league game in the western conference as his greatest thrill in football. Rivalry between Regina and Winnipeg has always been very keen and when the Regina Roughriders were leading the Bombers 4 to 0 in the dying moments of the game, Hanson unkindly tossed a touchdown pass to Bob Fritz to win the game. He still enjoys talking about it. Hanson is of the opinion that football is reaching the point where the eastern and western factions are ready to get together and standardize rules all across Canada. The blond flash would like to see unlimited blocking forward passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, four downs, the kick to the deadline and the rouge. And that, says Hanson, would give you a football game. He also looks for Canadian football to boom on all sides after the war, and thinks that our football at its best can compare to anything played in the United States.

EVEN AS you and I, jockeys have difficulty picking race winners. A story which, with minor variations, has been the experience of many good riders is that of Tod Sloan who, while having a streak of particularly good luck, once rode the famed English trainer, Alfred J. Day, to release him from the mount on a horse named Eau Gallie. Day released Sloan and obtained the services of Tommy Loates who brought the mount Sloan had scorned in the winner. Sloan went on to win the next five races.

Ted Atkinson has, on occasion, been criticized and praised for his use of the whip, an art in itself, for the rhythm of a horse's action may be broken if he is struck at the wrong time. Then too, some horses quit under the whip; others demand a "reminder" or more. Old-timers will tell you that Carol Shilling was one of the all-time whip-riders. "So, Ted, you'd think he had two in each hand and one in his teeth," but they'll add, "Earl Sande could get as much out of a horse with his hands."

Canadian Derby

Ferry Pilot Romps

WINNIPEG (CP) — Ferry Pilot, odds-on favorite, rewarded its backers Monday at Polo Park by scoring a convincing win in the $5,000 added Canadian Derby. Spangle Cook was second and Broad Camp third. Time for the mile and a quarter grind over a heavy track was 2:13 1/5, far off the track record of 2:07 4/5.

Eight entries — three colts, three geldings, and two fillies — went to the post.

Ferry Pilot, owned by the Halton Brook Stable of Oakville, Ont., and bred by R. J. Speers, well-known Winnipeg breeder, broke from the starting gate on top. At the quarter-mark he was passed by Spangle Cook and remained in second place until the three-quarter post.

As the horses rounded the second last turn before coming into the stretch, Ferry Pilot, ridden by jockey Johnny Dewhurst who was brought from Toronto to ride him, made his move, overtook Spangle Cook coming into the stretch, and won by a full 10 lengths.

Spangle Cook, owned by W. J. Lockard, Victoria, and ridden by Roy Russell, finished five lengths in front of Broad Camp, second choice in the betting. Broad Camp was six lengths ahead of the fourth horse, Sister's Best, from the W. J. Yates stable, Calgary.

San Francisco Real Threat In Coast Baseball

Watch out for those Seals! That's the byword today for the Coast League's top two teams, the Portland Beavers and Seattle Rainiers.

As the loop's eight clubs take up the cudgels tonight in the 16th week of play, San Francisco's rejuvenated outfit stands one game behind Seattle and six and a half behind Portland. Fresh from a 6 to 1 series victory over the Los Angeles Angels, the Seals clash with Sacramento this evening in the start of a three-week road trip that may make or break their upward drive. The climax of their jaunt will be reached in the following two weeks when they tangle with both northwest "rains."

All other tilts this week in the eight-game series that will include July 4 doubleheaders, will be played under California skies. The Beavers move to Oakland. Seattle shifts to Los Angeles and Hollywood goes to San Diego.

Statistics show that the menace of Lefty O'Doul's Seals to north-west domination of the league is no flash in the pan. Since May 8 San Francisco has been the best club in the circuit, winning six out of eight series, and rolling in at a 623 clip. During that period Portland has played 556 ball and Seattle 558. The Seals have won 33 and lost 20 games, the Beavers 30 and 24, and the Rainiers 29 and 23.

Longden Used Shot To Take Up Weight

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Longden, formerly of Taber, Alta., leading jockey in the United States, used his wits to get Louis B. Mayer's Thumbs Up home winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap last Saturday.

Thumbs Up, assigned the top weight of 130 pounds for the mile and one-quarter grind, didn't carry any "dead" weight, although Longden weighs only 113 pounds.

Longden stuffed 17 pounds of buckshot into his money belt and wore it around his waist.

"I wanted to keep the weight off Thumbs Up's back, so I carried it around my waist," Johnny explained.

The buckshot was out of the money belt today, and Longden's 10 per cent cut of the winner's purse, $8,292.50, was in.

Anderson-La Lacheur Hoop Scoring Champs; Big Windup Tuesday

Leading scorers in the Victoria and District Basketball League were—Ralph Anderson of the K.V.'s intermediate B boys with 115 points and Mary LaLacheur of intermediate A Rookies with 101. Billy Duncan of Tommy Tuckers senior B men's squad won the award for leading scorer in that division.

Winners of the trophies for the most free throws converted were Ralph Anderson and L. McDonald for the women. Don McKellar of the Combines in the intermediate A division is the winner of the prize for the least number of personal fouls.

To Ken Primmer of the Navy will go the award as the player displaying the most sportsmanship during the season. League officials stated today, in announcing the winners, that all awards had been made on a basis of 10 games. This was necessary owing to the fact that some teams played more games than others.

All prizes along with league trophies will be presented at a monster banquet and windup next Tuesday night, July 10, in the private dining-room of Terry's, starting at 6:45, with K.V.'s.

Yanks Still Having Troubles Break Losing Streak

The second-place New York Yankees of the American League who are kicking the ball around on their current western trip, reached the point yesterday where they boot a chance to set a new major league record for leaving men on base. The Yankees committed 17 errors in nine games.

Going into the eighth inning of the second game with the White Sox at Chicago's Comiskey Park it seemed a cinch the McCarthy men would wipe out the present mark of 18 standees. They had 16 runners marooned in the first seven innings.

In the eighth, however, only one man was left and Bud Metheny cut short even a chance to tie the record by grounding into a double play in the ninth.

Victoria Cricket Teams Lose, Draw In Mainland Play

VANCOUVER (CP) — Victoria cricket teams failed to win against Vancouver sides in the holiday all-day matches at Brockton Point grounds Monday, one losing badly, and the other managing to make a draw.

In the main game Vancouver rattled up a total of 262 for the loss of eight wickets before a holiday crowd of more than 1,000 persons, then dismissed the Victorians twice for totals of 53 and 93.

Vancouver old-timers made 234 and Victoria old-timers replied with a score of 213 for the loss of nine wickets.

Bill Hendy hit lustily in making top score of 94 for Vancouver, and received good support from Percy Broadfoot with 45, Wally Scott with 43, and Malcolm Milne with 41. Jack Payne bowled better than his analysis of three wickets for 65 runs shows and E. Tudor's three for 38 was the best bowling performance.

Victoria fared badly against the bowling of Robin Johnston and A. J. Darcus in their first innings. Les Gibbons' 20 and Jack Payne's 17 being the only double-figure scores. Johnston took six wickets for a paltry eight runs, and Darcus secured four for 38.

PAYNE HIGH WITH 27

Going in again Victoria did a little better, Jack Payne's 27 being high score, and Gibbons' 13 next, followed by Les Kennough's 13 not out, and Art Atwell's 12. This time Stan Hansen obtained seven wickets for 44 runs, and Alfie Martin three for 44.

The old-timers' game was more interesting. Gerry O'Hara (57), Alan Roughton (48 retired), Jim Toughton (38 retired), Norman Peters (33), and Albert Whitworth (20) being high scorers for the Vancouver side.

Victoria looked poor when nine wickets were down for 170 runs, but Fred Jepson and Hugh Lettaby put on 43 runs in nearly an hour without being dismissed and played out time to make a draw. Jepson hit 60 not out, Lettaby made 33 not out, Cyril Jones 35, and Harry Beeching (a Vancouver player helping Victoria) 28.

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES SPORTS

Victoria-Bremerton Split Doubleheader

Victoria All-Stars split the two holiday baseball games with Bremerton Navy Yard here Monday winning the afternoon fixture 6 to 5 and dropping the nightcap 5 to 4. Close to 4,000 attended the intercity exhibitions.

Big third inning rally when the V.M.D., representing Victoria, made seven hits good for five runs featured the afternoon tilt. Roberts, a veteran pro hurler from Seattle, opened on the mound for the shipbuilders but retired after three innings when he found it difficult to find the plate. Roberts gave up five walks, three hits and two runs. He was replaced by Wilf Shoultice who hurled steady ball for the remaining six frames, being found for nine hits and three runs. V.M.D. played heads up ball in the field, with second baseman Gay Taylor and shortstop Charlie Strouler being particularly good.

Bremerton also used two hurlers. Price, who started, was chased to the showers after being charged with eight hits and five runs in two and one-third innings. Kulick, a southpaw, who replaced him, turned in a smooth exhibition, giving up only one run and three hits. He struck out five.

Teams came up with three double plays, Bremerton getting two of them. After Bremerton had taken a 2 to 0 lead at the end of the second, the balloon went up in the third. Travis opened with a single and successive hits by Robinson, Restell, Taylor, Morgan, Strouler and Work, along with Foster's sacrifice, sent five runners scurrying across the rubber. Three walks and an infield out gave Victoria another run in the fourth. Visitors closed out their scoring in the seventh when four solid hits and a wild pitch gave them three runs. In both the eighth and ninth Bremerton threatened to tie the score but Victoria got out of trouble with some clever infield play. Charlie Restell was the leading hitter with two for three. WIN IN SEVENTH Getting to relief pitcher George Boston for three runs in the seventh inning, Bremerton pulled the night game out of the fire. Victoria, represented by a team of all-stars from the services, had built up a 4 to 2 lead behind the pitching of Darrah. Taking over in the seventh Boston was greeted by a single off the bat of O'Neill. Ramp lifted to Morrison and then Boston lost his control to walk Harkins and Kulick in succession and load the bases. Successive singles by Skaden and Hendricks and Tohey's fly ball to the outfield accounted for three runs. That ended the scoring for the night and resulted in Boston being charged with the defeat.

Sirovy, starting hurler for Bremerton, departed in the third inning after allowing five hits and four runs. Hendricks, who took over, twirled shutout ball the rest of the way and in four of the innings he worked retired Victoria in order. The left-hander gave up one hit.

Bremerton led 12 men stranded on the base paths and Victoria 10.

Jimmy Kilburn, Victoria catcher, led the hitters with two for three.

Short scores follow:
First game — R. H. E.
Bremerton — 5 12 1

Victoria Tracksters Win Pat Fleming Sets Mark

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pat Fleming, one of coach Archie McKinnon's "Y" team from Victoria set a new record for the B.C. junior girls' high jump at the 39th annual Vancouver police track and field day here Monday.

More than 7,500 spectators watched the events.

The record—a feet 11 inches—was the only new one established.

Pat Haley, former Washington State College track man, was the standout of the day, winning three sprints. He ran the 100 yards in 10 seconds flat, the 220 in 23.7 seconds, and the service men's 220 in 25.2 seconds.

DALE WINNER Bill Dale, another W.S.C. star, barely beat out Lork Byng's Jack Burney, 1945 high school champion, in the 440. They made the circuit in 32.4 seconds.

The girls' events were hot contests between the Victoria "Y" the Pacific Athletic Club and the Hudson's Bay track clubs. Mary Friezell Thomasson's P.A. girls scored the major victory when they outran the Victoria and H.B.C. teams in the girls' 440 relay.

The crowd took a liking to the Bicycle races and gave a big hand to Eric Whitehead of Victoria when he won the gruelling two-mile race.

Bob Lynn, another Washington athlete, copped the mile, covering the distance in 4 minutes 40.7 seconds.

Kathleen Windsor, author of "Forever Amber" read 356 books on the Restoration in the preliminary research for her novel.

Thousands Enjoy Holiday At Parks, Beaches, Lakes

Victoria donned its play shoes and sun suit Monday, packed a picnic lunch and headed for the great outdoors.

From early morning until late afternoon, men, women and children in twos, threes and twenties left the hot city streets and streamed to parks and beaches in record-breaking throngs. They went on foot, by bicycle or by car; they filled street cars and jammed buses.

"It was the heaviest holiday weekend in the company's history, but we were able to get everybody home," G. C. Parrott, traffic manager of Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd., said today. "There were extra buses on nearly all runs, with traffic between Victoria and Duncan particularly heavy."

Taking advantage of the moderate temperature, which reached a maximum of 73 during the day, thousands of Victorians occupied every available spot of beach, sandy or otherwise. Many taking heed of the wartime travel advice, flocked to Willows, Gonzales, Cadboro Bay, and Cordova Bay beaches to enjoy themselves as near home as possible. The Dallas Road beach, rocks and grassy slopes of Beacon Hill drew their quota of holidayers.

Some, seeking a restful day in the cool, green country, peddled out toward Metchosin.

THETIS CROWDED

Thetis Lake drew its usual throng of swimmers and picnickers who, after a cooling dip, enjoyed their lunches atop the cliffs. Buses, taking passengers right into the park, accommodated a Sunday-sized crowd. Elk Lake was a popular spot, with many families using a part of their gasoline ration to make the trip.

Many holiday-seekers rounded off Dominion Day at a dance or show. Restaurants throughout the evening were crowded.

No unusual influx of visitors invaded Victoria during the Dominion Day holiday week-end. While hotel bookings listed many out-of-town names from the U.S. mainland and island, numbers of incoming week-enders were equalized by Victorians who holidayed

Huge Duncan Crowd Sees Dominion Day Carnival

DUNCAN (Special)—Duncan went to town for the Dominion Day carnival.

Taking advantage of bright sunshine, crowds estimated at 10,000 flocked to this island centre from Victoria and centres to the north for festivities which got under way at 10 in the morning and did not wind up until after midnight.

Mayor Percy George headed a large Victoria delegation.

The program included queen crowning ceremonies, drill team displays, pro-rec gymnastics, music of three bands, variety numbers, kiddies' sports, loggers' sports, horse show and gymkhana, baseball, variety show, street dance, tombola and a mid-way run by the Duncan Kinsmen.

The grand carnival street dance, at which Queen Valerie Hamilton made the drawings for the tombola, wound up a day of continuous entertainment.

The highlight of the loggers' sports was the tree-climbing event for the V.I. Coach Lines trophy, the demonstration of power-saw in action and the tree-topping display. The guessing competition on the time it would take to fall a tree had many entries and was won by P. P. Allard.

Events started with the parade of 15 floats, led by George Parlee, past grand master of the Elks.

First prize for floats went to the Elks, whose design depicted a miniature ferris wheel with children riding on it, and swings, also in use. Second prize was taken by the Duncan Chinese.

Also represented in the parade were the Navy Band from H.M.C.S. Naden, Duncan volunteer fire department, float of Fairbridge Farm School, a 1,000-pound bomb, St. Ann's Scout at points on the mainland and up-island.

C.P.R. bookings were heavy, as were calls on both Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian Pacific Air Lines offices here. C.P.A. reported reservations heavy until end of this week.

troop, Fairbridge Farm children, group from Duncan Elementary School, Duncan Pro-Rec, Duncan Olympic Club, Esquimalt Garrison Band, Victoria Girls' Drill Team, the Kinsmen's float, a replica of Duncan Stone Church (which won third prize), Indian float, Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, representatives from all I.W.A. locals, Shawigan Lake float, and the Emergency Farm Labor Service float.

On arrival at Low Hill Park, addresses were made by Mayor George Savage; Andy Whiskers, representing Hon. George Pearson, Minister of Labor; F. G. Aldersey, president of the carnival; W. J. Garrett, new principal of Fairbridge Farm School; Charlie Pearce, from Stewart's Research; last year's queen, and many others.

QUEEN CROWNED

The new queen, Valerie Hamilton, dressed in white with a silver crown and ermine cape, was crowned by Harold Pritchett, president, B.C. District Council, I.W.A.

Representatives from army, navy and air force performed the ceremony of breaking of the flags, including the Union Jack, Stars and Stripes and Russian ensign, as the Navy Band played the national anthem.

Sweden to Make Houses for Britain

Hope was still held out today that B.C. may get a contract for pre-fabricated houses to replace bomb-damaged homes in Britain. It was learned at the Parliament Buildings today Sweden had been awarded a contract for 5,000 pre-fabricated houses. British Columbia for some months has been negotiating with Ottawa and London for an order for 3,000 houses. Some time ago a sample B.C. house was shipped to Britain and erected near Liverpool.

In some circles here no protest was heard at the news Sweden had been awarded a contract. Suffering from a lack of adequate housing accommodation, B.C. falling to win a contract, will have more building material available to meet domestic demands.

50 Veterans' Homes To Be Built Here By Private Company

Sites have been chosen and plans for the formation of a company to build 50 low rental homes for the families of returned men only are going ahead, Ald. T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the special housing committee, said following a meeting of the committee today.

The homes will be family units, Ald. Hawkins said, and of good construction, but the definite size of the houses has yet to be decided.

These houses will be in addition to the 50 to be built by War-time Housing Co. Ltd., for which the lots have already been approved by a representative of the company. This afternoon, city council considered the draft agreement under which the houses will be built.

Ald. Hawkins was well satisfied with the progress made at this morning's committee meeting. The new company, he said, hopes to be able to get the same material priorities as given War-time Housing Co. Ltd.

The company will probably be formed under the National Housing Act, Ald. Hawkins said, under which scheme private capital advances 10 per cent of the cost and the federal government provides the other 50 per cent.

Others attending the meeting were Ald. Ed. Williams, representing Victor Leigh of the Builders' Exchange; J. A. Ben-nell, representing E. F. Burton of the Real Estate Board; Maj. H. Cuthbert Holmes, Chamber of Commerce president; Mayor Percy George, George Randall and Forrest L. Shaw.

A number of suggestions to provide better recreational facilities for tourist attractions in Victoria have been made by William E. G. Crisford, 2845 The Rise, in a letter to Mayor Percy George. Mr. Crisford compares the facilities offered in Vancouver to those in Victoria. He also calls attention to the litter in the downtown streets. He criticized the lack of restroom facilities, particularly in the public library. Teachers Must Instill Faith In Young People, Says Perry Real differences today are between those who have confidence in the future world order, and those who have no faith, Hon. H. G. Perry, minister of education, told teachers assembled in Victoria High School auditorium for the official opening of Summer School today.

"It is your responsibility," he said, "to instill faith in the minds of young people. Those who have no faith are the people who consider war inevitable."

Mr. Perry told the teachers he realized the difficulties under which they had been working, and said he was proud of the assistance given them by the Department of Education. He referred to reduction of normal school fees, the system of bursaries of which 73 had been granted last year, and the raising of salaries in B.C.

He noted that the minimum salary of $780 per year had been raised to $1,200, and stressed that no rural teacher can now be employed in a permanent position for less. Minimum high school salary, he said, is now $1,500. The average salary of $911 paid in 1941 had been raised to $1,380 last September.

Mr. Perry said the province's system of bursaries and loans for

Naval Ratings Fight Fire at Goldstream

A forest fire at Mount Finlayson, Goldstream, which started Monday afternoon is reported still burning fiercely today, despite efforts of wardens and 50 naval ratings to control the blaze.

The fire is reported to have started close to the Island Highway by the Goldstream Road and spread towards Goldstream. Residents of the district were called out Monday to fight the fire and were battling the blaze until 11 at night. This morning the naval ratings went out by truck.

Embers of a picnic fire are believed responsible for the fire.

B.C. Trade in 1944 Breaks All Records

B.C.'s trade with the world in 1944 soared to unprecedented heights, smashing not only the 1943 wartime but also the 1929 peacetime records. Statistics released today by the Bureau of Economics and Statistics of the Department of Trade and Industry showed imports last year totaled $122,005,147, while exports were $267,034,752. In 1943 imports were $120,223,748, while exports totaled $253,002,326.

Sun in June Here Shone for 292 Hours

With sunshine totaling 292 hours, 13 hours above normal, and precipitation measuring 0.33 inch, 0.55 inch below normal, Victorians enjoyed fine weather during June. There were two days of rain and seven days in which there was trace. Mean temperature for the month was 57 degrees. Maximum temperature of 76 degrees was reached June 17 and minimum of 46 degrees June 13. Precipitation from Jan. 1 to June 30 was 11.23 inches, 1.32 inches below normal.

Traffic Artery

Douglas Street between Fort and Johnson, is the busiest portion of downtown Victoria, the pedestrian count conducted by the assessor-collector's office Saturday, G. A. Okell, assessor-collector, said today. He estimated that the pedestrian traffic had jumped more than 30 per cent over the count last year.

Trying to Guess Next Allied Blow

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fervent Japanese military men, trying to guess where Allied troops will land next, rushed defence preparations today from mighty Singapore to the towering cliffs of the home islands.

The enemy radio told of plans to evacuate civilians from Singapore, the formation of volunteer corps at Canton and in Indo-China, and determination of those at home to defend Kyushu's soil.

The Domei agency reported 10,000 Japanese residents of Canton have formed special storming parties of males between 14 and 60 years of age. It is there that the enemy fears Allied invasion of the China coast to gain the important Canton-Hongkong port facilities.

No Accidents Mar Holiday Despite Heavy Auto Travel

With traffic reported as heavy as any seen in prewar holidays, Vancouver Island motorists came through the holiday week-end with only one near-tragedy which failed to mar the record, B.C. Police reported today.

Constable R. W. Sinclair reported Thomas Lokier, Langford Street, while driving his car on the cut-off on the Island Highway, near Arbutus Creek, skidded on the loose gravel and came to rest with his car halfway over a bank below which was a 75-foot drop. The car was undamaged and no one was injured.

To cope with the heavy traffic expected, B.C. Police had two traffic cars and motorcycle on patrol.

Constable R. Ross, Shawnigan Lake, said he did not think he had ever seen traffic as heavy as that during the week-end. Hitchhikers also crowded the roads, said Constable Ross, and cars of every description and year ventured onto the highways.

Constable Jack Locke, highway patrol, said motorists who went furthest up-Island on Saturday and Sunday helped flood the roads with traffic on their return Monday evening. Early Monday morning, he said, most of the traffic was one way as holidaymakers crowded up to Duncan for the carnival, but as the day went on, traffic became heavy going both up an down-Island.

City Firemen Get 11 Alarms

City fire department reports 11 fire alarms, including two false ones, over the week-end. None of the fires were serious. First call Saturday came in at 13 minutes past noon to a grass fire at 1443 Denman Street. At 6:25 in the evening a call came from a street-car fire at Government and Discovery Streets where slight damage was done when fire of unknown origin started in the partition of the front window.

On Sunday, the only fire, a grass fire, was reported at 1:40 in the afternoon by Stewart's Monumental Works Ltd., 1401 May Street.

On Monday, the first alarm was a false one, coming in at 20 minutes past midnight from a fire alarm box at the corner of Vancouver and Burdett Streets. The second alarm, also false, came in at 8:03 from Government and Mill Streets.

At 1:03 in the afternoon, firemen attended a car fire opposite the York Theatre, Government Street. Some damage was done to the front seat of the car which is owned by James Smith.

At 4:42 in the afternoon and 9:18 and 9:45 in the evening, firemen attended grass fires at Topaz Avenue, one near Johnson Street Bridge, and a second one at Topaz Avenue, respectively.

At 10:17 in the evening, firemen put out a bedding fire at 1046 Balmoral Avenue. The last alarm of the day came at 11:34 to a rubbish fire at the rear of 2929 Douglas Street.

Fish Net Preserver Study Encouraging

G. F. Alexander, assistant commissioner of fisheries, said today he was very hopeful that investigations now being carried on by Ben Farrar would produce a preservative which will delay deterioration of fish nets, thus saving B.C. fishermen hundreds of thousands of dollars each year.

Mr. Alexander said that Mr. Farrar, who is working with the B.C. Industrial and Scientific Research Council, was making a full-scale study. He has already visited factories in Quebec to consider introducing some chemical into the manufacturing process of cotton and linen nets, but this has not been considered feasible.

Mr. Farrar, for 15 years an employee of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. at Trail, is making his headquarters at the Fisheries Research Board of Canada offices in Vancouver, where he has set up a laboratory. While it may not be possible to find a preservative which will be highly resistant to the deterioration of fish nets, Mr. Alexander said a substance which would prolong the usefulness of nets from three to five years would be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to B.C. fishermen.

Only I Firm Tenders For Courtenay Garage

Only tender submitted for the construction of a public works department garage at Courtenay was that of the Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd., Vancouver, which bid to erect the building for $36,500.

The tenders were opened today at the Parliament Buildings by Works Minister Herbert Ancomb.

Duchess of Bedford Has Fine War Record; In Many Actions

MONTREAL—It's just 17 years since the Duchess of Bedford, one of the famed Canadian Pacific ships, steamed up the St. Lawrence on her maiden voyage from Liverpool. Fitting, then, was the appearance in the port of Halifax the other day of the same Duchess—not so glistening as she was 17 years ago, for she still wears her drab war paint—but just as fit and ready for action as she has been all through her life, and her life, particularly in the past five years, has been an active one.

In 17 years a total of 1,146,497 nautical miles has been steamed by the Duchess of Bedford. In war service alone she has gone 344,015 nautical miles, from the freezing Arctic to the steaming tropics. And people carried hither and yon over the world's oceans total 231,000. From 1928 until the outbreak of hostilities in 1939, she had carried 71,400 across the Atlantic. Then her service stepped up, and from 1939 to now she carried another 160,000, mostly troops to far-off places.

SANK A SUB

The Duchess of Bedford has been able to take a hand in offensive war, too. While Capt. W. G. Busk-Wood was her master and J. I. Williams, troop officer, both were made officers of the British Empire for "good service when attacked by the enemy." The 20,000-ton liner sank one Nazi submarine and put another to precipitate flight.

The Duchess's log shows some interesting ports of call. In addition to her north Atlantic regular run in peacetime, she made many cruises to the West Indies. But it's been during the war that she roamed far afield. For instance, Canadian and United States and British soldiers have traveled in her to Iceland. In those dark days of the early war when Singapore fell, the Duchess stayed there till the last minute loading refugees, then slipped out to sea and escaped from the blood-crazed suicide squadrons of the Japanese air force.

IN SEVERAL INVASIONS

The Mediterranean Sea was a hazardous spot for British shipping during this war, but the Duchess was there, too. She cruised around Africa to Indian Ocean waters when things got too hot for a time in the Mediterranean. She was steamed up the Persian Gulf to Basra, Aden, to Odessa in the Black Sea with supplies and materials for the Russians. She took part as a troopship in the landings in north Africa and later in Sicily. She was in the hell of screaming shells and bombs and airplane strafing that accompanied the landing at Salerno in Italy, and she was in service in the Red Sea after that.

Fifteen of the Duchess's original crew still sail aboard her. Ten others have been aboard her from 13 to 15 years.

The war isn't over for the Duchess yet. Thousands of Canadians will likely see her again as they stream back from Europe's battlefields, and then, she may return to the Pacific later on. But, as her master said on the occasion of her birthday celebration the other day: "She's a grand old girl, still going strong, and fit as a fiddle!"

Made Sure First

A prosperous-looking man walked into the saloon bar in London.

"I'll give five pounds to anybody who can drink five pints of beer in two minutes," he said. Everyone laughed except one small man in a bowler hat, who pushed through the crowd and went out of the door. After about five minutes he returned and went up to the prosperous man and said: "Is that offer still on?"

"Yes, if you can do it," was the answer.

The little man then ordered five pints and drank them up with ten seconds to spare. The other was amazed, and paying over the five pounds, said: "Good gracious! How on earth did you manage to do it?"

The little man replied: "Well, I wasn't so sure, so I went over to the Red Lion and timed myself."

Haley in Fine Form For 'Scared Stiff'

Those with a mania for mysteries and murders will get more than their fill of suspense in Paramount's newest Pine-Thomas picture, "Scared Stiff," which opened today at the Dominion Theatre. The film co-stars Jack Haley and Ann Savage with Veda Borg, Barton MacLane and Roger Pryor heading a competent cast.

Pryor, as the tough city editor of a small newspaper, details Haley, one of his scatter-brained reporters, to cover an insignificant story. The story, however, turns out to be the prize package of the year for it involves almost every conceivable crime—including murder. "The murder takes place aboard a bus and it is Haley's misfortune to find himself seated next to the murdered man. This places him under suspicion along with those two lovelies, Ann and Veda, and all the other ill-fated passengers.

OAK BAY PLAZA THEATRES Although Chic Sale, the comedian, has been dead eight years, his memory goes marching on. Because of repeated requests for revivals of Chic's homespun vaudeville specialties, his actress-sister, Virginia, has incorporated her brother's outstanding and beloved interpretation, "The Old Man"—the philosophical G.A.R. war veteran—in her own program of American characterizations.

Miss Sale is featured in Joan Davis' Universal starring comedy, "She Gets Her Man," now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Her one-woman show, which she has presented at more than 300 performances before theatre audiences and women's clubs, is only one of multiple activities that keep her busy.

YORK THEATRE

There is a very good chance that if the plans of the Slye family of Duck Run, Ohio, had materialized, their only son would today be pulling molar somewhere in the mid-west. Instead, he is in Hollywood, astride a handsome Palomino named Trigger, and they call him Roy Rogers, King of the Cowboys. In the past few months his fan mail has set an all high record, and the attendance record he set at Madison Square Garden Rodeo has only been topped by championship fights. Roy makes his latest screen bow in Warner Bros.' star studded musical "Hollywood Canteen," now playing at the York Theatre.

RIO THEATRE

Milburn Stone has an outstanding role in the cast supporting Jean Gabin in Universal's gripping drama, "The Impostor," produced and directed by Julien Duvivier, currently on the screen of the Rio Theatre. Stone, a contract player at Universal, portrays a hard-hitting soldier in the drama of the Free French in Africa.

Also prominently cast are Richard Whorf, Ellen Drew,

CAPITOL THEATRE

Robert Benchley is featured in the cast of "Practically Yours," the Mitchell Leisen comedy currently at the Capitol Theatre, with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray co-starring.

Benchley plays the part of a Supreme Court judge, whose pompous mein covers the instincts of a regular guy. He has one wrestling scene with a sleeping bag that should be reminding of the immortal Benchley short subject, "How To Sleep."

Also in the cast of this hilarious comedy of a hero who returns from the wars to a sweetheart he hadn't left behind, are Gil Lamb, Cecil Kellaway, Rosemary De Camp, Tom Powers, Jane Frazee, Isabel Randolph and Mikhail Rasumny.

CADET THEATRE

Sonny Tufts is another of the tall boys of the movies who is having stand-in difficulties. He is six feet four, and there just aren't any stand-ins that tall around the place. However, the situation was solved for Mark Sandrich's "I Love a Soldier." A six-footer was hired and given four-inch wooden sandals to strap to his feet when standing in for the big blonde who appears opposite Paulette Goddard in this Paramount film currently at the Cadet Theatre.

Vanilla vines are cultivated under trees large enough to afford shade because they cannot stand much direct sunshine.

300 ALREADY HAVE RETURNED

WHEN a man has lived for several years among strange sights in far places, in a world of excitement and adventure, it is not easy for him to return to the work he left behind and settle down to normal peacetime living. If, in addition, he returns with some physical disability, his problem is even greater.

It is this latter aspect of the rehabilitation of our fighting men that has led this Company to make a special study of the placement of disabled veterans in its organization.

Of the 2400 and more men who left the Company to go to war, about three hundred already have returned. All of them will be given the opportunity to return to their former employment for as far as possible any other type of work they may prefer) WITH A STANDING EQUAL TO THAT WHICH THEY WOULD HAVE ATTAINED HAD THEY STAYED AT HOME.

But some, fortunately not many, of them have returned maimed, sick, or perhaps just mentally upset. These will need, and will receive, special consideration. They are being trained to do such work as their disability allows, and at the same time encouraged to realize that their special tasks are as vital to the organization as the more strenuous work being done by their fellows.

In this way Consolidated is endeavouring to fulfil its part in Canada's obligation to her fighting men. Our work along these lines will be continued until all those of our 2400 veterans who return to us have been fully reinstated.
